Debt market

- Government bonds were little changed, as investors slowed purchases in the absence of fresh positive cues amid increasing expectations of a December rate hike by the US Federal Reserve
- The benchmark 6.97% bond maturing in 2026 ended unchanged at ₹ 101.39
- The benchmark 6.97% 2026 bond yield remained unchanged at 6.77%

Forex (US$/INR)

- The rupee ended little changed, as likely dollar sales by banks helped offset losses stemming from month-end US$ demand while strength in major currencies also helped rupee recover losses against US$
- The dollar index ended mildly lower at 98.63 on the back of profit booking from the recent surge against major currencies. Higher gains in GBP and euro weighed on US$ while JPY weakened on rising expectations of BoJ keeping its monetary policy unchanged in its upcoming monetary meet

Equity

- Equity benchmarks ended in the red for a second consecutive session on Wednesday ahead of October series derivatives expiry and below expectation earnings reporting from some private lenders
- The Sensex settled at 27836, down 255 points or 0.91% while the Nifty shut shop at 8615, down 76 points or 0.88%
- Broader markets also corrected in tandem with benchmarks as BSE midcap and small cap index retreated 0.9% and 0.6%, respectively. The overall market breadth favoured declines

Commodities Market

- Crude oil prices settled lower on Wednesday as the Opec deal came under a cloud due to Iraq joining other nations like Iran in raising output to levels before civil turmoil led disruption. Huge oil stocks already on ground would continue to weigh on prices on any meaningful rallies
- Gold prices fell on Wednesday as rising US interest rate hike possibilities weigh on non interest paying asset. December rate hike probability rose to 72% on higher US economic data from 60% at the start of October

US$/INR derivatives strategy: Buy November Contract

- In the currency futures market, the most traded dollar-rupee November contract on the NSE ended at 67.16. The November contract open interest rose 29.98% from the previous day
- December contract open interest rose 13.06% from the previous day
- We expect the US$ to gain supports at lower levels. Utilise downsides in the dollar to go long on the US$INR pair
