MARKET PREVIEW

US: U.S. stocks posted a second sharp daily loss Monday as investors continued to dump assets perceived as risky in the wake of the U.K.'s vote last week to leave the European Union.

Asia: Most Asian stock benchmarks slipped on Tuesday as Britain's vote to quit the European Union and its messy aftermath continued to reverberate throughout global financial markets.

India: In a volatile trading day, the S&P BSE Sensex on Monday settled the day flat, while the broader Nifty50 ended below its key 8,100-mark. The headline indices swung between gains and losses, as investors continued to digest the fallout of Britain's decision to leave the European Union and as cement makers and agriculture-related firms rose on forecast of an extended monsoon season. Market is expected to open on flattish note and likely to remain range bound during the day.

Economy: Activity in the U.S. services sector remained subdued in June while employment numbers expand at the slowest pace in a year and a half. Flash services PMI remained unchanged at 51.3 in June. Analysts had expected an increase to 51.9.

Growth in China's manufacturing sector likely stalled in June, adding to expectations that Beijing will have to roll out more stimulus to boost the sluggish economy. The official manufacturing PMI is expected to have slipped to a four-month low of 50.0 in June from 50.1 in May.

A key market measure of the euro zone's long term inflation expectations extended its falls to a new record low, as concerns about the outlook for growth and inflation rise in the wake of last week's UK Brexit vote. The five-year, breakeven forward -- the ECB's favored measure of market inflation expectations -- fell to 1.276%, a record low.

Commodities: Oil prices rose in early trading in Asia on Tuesday as a looming strike in Norway threatened to cut output in western Europe's biggest producer, although Britain's vote to leave the European Union was still weighing on markets.

Gold gained in Asia on Tuesday with investors eyeing a political process in the United Kingdom that could take months to play out before a firm plan for exiting the European Union is put forth.

Currency: GBP/USD fell sharply on Monday touching down to fresh 31-year lows, S&P lowered the U.K.'s credit rating, placing further downward pressure on the sliding Pound in the aftermath of last week's surprising decision by U.K. voters to approve a measure to leave the European Union.
