Nifty Spot Chart

Technical Outlook

Similar to its previous trading session, Nifty index opened higher with a marginal gain and started correcting during the initial hour of trade. However, the intraday sell-off got seized near hourly 9-EMA and we saw decent recovery. In the process, Nifty eventually recouped its early morning gains and concluded the session near its opening tick. Yesterday's candle resembles the formation of Hanging Man candle which is a bearish candle however it required confirmation in terms of closing below candle low of 9215 in that case we might see profit booking till 9174. Higher side, 9294 / 9324 are the resistance level for the day.

Bank Nifty Spot Chart

Technical Outlook

Yesterday, Bank Nifty witnessed decent traction and made an intraday high tad above its recent all-time high of 21696 to eventually end the session with a gain of half a percent. The daily RSI (14) is still trading below the bearish divergence trend line. Today, on account of RBI Bi-monthly policy announcement we might see some bit of volatility. For the day, if index sustain above 21700 than we may see further up move till 21850. Lower side, 21550 / 21390 will be the intraday support.
